

I confess to an immense feeling of tiredness sometimes while listening to radio commentaries, or reading newspaper columns, in which the performer roundly scolds the world for not being all that it ought to be.

A sample of the professional scold's work: "Little Israel got no action out of the big powers until, fighting for its national life, it whipped the Arab armies in the field. It's the same situation when institutions like the United Nations, presumably committed to the cause of human justice, are still governed by the outcome of brute force."

I can't stomach that kind of comment. It seems to me that Israel, rather than being a comment on the frailty of human nature, is a glowing tribute to the courage and competence of men so determined to win freedom and set up their own country that they whipped an enemy that far outnumbered them.

I see nothing grotesque in the fact that even with the establishment of the United Nations we still have neighborhood wars.

That is no more grotesque than the fact that we have universal public education in America, read newspapers and books, know all about human justice and good conduct—yet we maintain police forces to keep parts of the public from robbing and murdering one another.

The United Nations is merely a page out of a book—a statement of human goals. It does not represent the human nature, any more than the goals of human conduct represent the actual performance of humanity, whether in a local neighborhood or the far-flung politics of the world.

The fact is, the Jews set up Israel because they were competent to use force; while the United Nations was unable to do anything for the Jews because it had no force to use.

The Chinese failed to keep their own republic for the very reason that they have neither force nor competence to use it. Fundamentally the Chinese believe in families, not governments; therefore they resemble in a way the United Nations—a people living in literary splendor but impotent so far as the realities of the world are concerned.

It is time to say there is no place in the world for the United Nations. But rather, that until the world has such confidence in the UN it is willing to grant it police power force it is idle to express dismay or disillusionment because the world still has border wars.

It is fair enough if the United Nations manages to stave off world-wide war—with the aid of the guns and men of the Western Allies who (fortunately for us) can read a book without forgetting for one moment what the score is in world politics.

Group Would Make Services Count Pennies

(This is the second in a series prepared by the Arkansas Public Expenditures Council to show the need for reorganization of the executive branch of the government.)

By SAM HAYS AND CLOVIS COPELAND
Washington, Jan. 20—(Special)

Uncle Sam's army, navy, and air force will learn to count their pennies—and their billions—more carefully if the commission on reorganization of the executive branch of the government has its way.

A silent feature of the 20-page research report on the National Security Organization (armed services) which the commission is studying stresses the need for better budgeting and "economy-consciousness" on the part of the defense establishment.

The commission, headed by Herbert Hoover, will report to Congress on the research findings within a few weeks. Among the 12 members of the bipartisan commission are Sen. John L. McClellan of Arkansas and Defense Secretary James V. Forrestal.

The research task force was headed by Ferdinand Eberstadt, former chairman of the Army and Navy munitions board, and its list of members and advisors include nine generals and five admirals. Among them are General of the Army Dwight Eisenhower and Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz.

When the armed services were asked to submit budgets for fiscal 1950, the report reveals, they were told that the total defense bill could not exceed $15,000,000,000. Nevertheless, the respective secretaries of army, navy, and air force filed initial budget estimates of about $10,000,000,000 apiece. The total of the three was thus exactly twice the amount which President Truman felt the nation could afford to pay for defense purposes.

To offset the therefore each of the three services held its own function to be so important as to claim two-thirds of the available funds.

The Eberstadt committee also detected many evidences of carelessness in the handling of funds and supplies. War production board reports show that about 85,000 tanks were produced in this country during the recent war. Army statistics obtained by the committee with some difficulty, indicated that about 25,000 of these were on hand at the end of the war. The army was able to account to the committee for only about 16,000 tanks. It was unable to state what had become of the others.

Committee staff members discovered in the original reports of estimated requests for the mod construction of 100,000 tanks (or a certain type) that the army possessed in another item a misplaced figure added approximately thirty million dollars to the budget.

Hope Opposes 'Frisco Plan to Cut Trains

Hope will file a protest against the proposal of the St. Louis & San Francisco Ry. Co. to discontinue passenger train service between Hugo, Okla., and this city at a hearing to be held before the Oklahoma Public Service Commission in Oklahoma City Friday.

This action was decided on at a conference between the City of Hope and Hope Chamber of Commerce yesterday afternoon in the chamber offices. Hope will be represented at the hearing by Mayor Lyle Brown and Talbot Field, Jr., both local attorneys. The city proposes to finance the trip in behalf of the municipal government and the chamber, the mayor said.

The effect of yesterday's city-chamber conference was to ally Hope with Hugo, Okla., in the latter's fight to block the railroad petition insofar as it applies to the Oklahoma end of the line. The Frisco petition as presented to the Oklahoma Public Service Commission was examined in detail at yesterday's conference.

It asks the right to discontinue Passenger Trains 773 and 774 east of Hugo, Okla., to the Arkansas line. The petition recites that passenger is extremely light and service is being supplied at an operating deficit. The railroad proposes to substitute for passenger passenger service one mixed freight and passenger train each way daily to be known as Freight 737 and 738.

Yesterday's conference brought out the following facts:

1. While the present passenger schedule provides daily roundtrip service in and out of Hope to Frisco points the proposed mixed train schedule would leave Hope at 9:20 a.m., arriving in Hugo at 4 p.m., while the return schedule calls for departure from Hugo at 10:45 a.m. and arrival in Hope at 5:30 p.m.

It was the opinion of the local conference that a seven-hour roundtrip schedule to cover 125 miles would actually eliminate passenger service, leaving only Frisco for a later date to ask for conversion to freight trains alone.

The conference also learned authoritatively that abandonment of the present passenger trains would eliminate railway mail service, with resultant damage to the Hope trade territory.

Yesterday's conference was attended by: George W. Robison, president Hope Chamber of Commerce; B. D. Forsythe, secretary manager; Lyle Brown, mayor of Hope; Talbot Field, Jr., attorney and former state representative; and Alex. H. Washburn, member of city's Board of Public Affairs.

McNab Pleads for Saving of 'Frisco Train

Editor The Star: I read daily your "Our Daily Bread," which was grand this a.m. My sentiments were expressed much better than I could have done, to have tried to get someone to help for the town of McNab concerning the discontinuing of the Frisco passenger train. It seemed each waited for the other.

Day before yesterday I worded a petition to the chamber of commerce at Hugo, Okla., saying that we are begging for our train service to remain as it is now. If I attend this meeting, and if there are any charges please send me a bill, and I may not have any help but will gladly pay the bill myself.

If you do not attend tell your representative to do so for us. I sent a petition to Fulton and had the business men and others to sign, and mailed this to Hugo's petition. I have one at Saratoga to be signed and will get this in this afternoon and mail it to Hugo tomorrow morning.

If I could think of anything else I could do I would be happy to do it. If you know of anything else I might do write me or get me word some way.

We don't have a telephone here, and our people use the train for going to Ashdown to see doctors and use it for attending shows in Hugo, on the return trip catching a bus to Fulton and walking home from there. Fulton and Saratoga use the passenger train here quite frequently.

Enlistments May Make Draft Law Remain Idle

Editor's Note: Since Mrs. Spates wrote her letter the City of Hope has decided to join Hugo, Okla., in the fight to save the Frisco passenger service, and Hugo will be represented at the Oklahoma City hearing Friday, Jan. 21, by Mayor Lyle Brown and Talbot Field, Jr., both being attorneys.

Mother, With Daughter in Arms, Jumps to Death

New York, Jan. 20—(UPI)—A young Brooklyn mother, her daughter clutching in her arms, leaped from a crowded subway platform into the path of an approaching express yesterday, killing both of them.

They were identified as Mrs. Mae Belinsky, 31, and her daughter, Victoria, 5.

State Bond Election Set for February 15; Senate Has Mild Fight Over City-Bond Issue

Full Recognition to Israel Seen, Also Big Loans

Washington, Jan. 20—(UPI)—Government quarters said today the United States will grant full diplomatic recognition to Israel immediately following next week's Israeli elections.

These sources cited the export-import bank's authorization yesterday of a $100,000,000 loan to the new state as evidence that the last barriers to full "de jure" recognition are down.

The United States gave interim recognition to Israel last May 14, the day the state was created. President Truman indicated in November that this government would consider extending full-scale recognition as soon as a permanent government was elected. The Israeli elections are scheduled for Jan. 25.

American experts on Palestine are convinced that after the election Israel will become more closely associated with the Western democracies. This view was bolstered by the statement of an Israeli spokesman that the new state will urge American interests to invest in Israel industry and construct branch plants there.

Obviously pleased that his proposal had cleared the legislative hurdle—although that was expected, McMath at first affixed the seal and proceeded to sign the enrolled (hand-written) act. He smiled and proceeded to sign in the proper place.

The governor signed the senate bill, rather than an identical house bill, only because the former completed its legislative tour first. Each house approved the legislation finally yesterday.

Under Art. 5, not more than $7,000,000 in bonds can be issued in any one year, the size of an issue up to that figure to be determined on the basis of need. Interest on the proposed bonds is limited at 3.2 per cent.

Ben Gurion has been an avowed neutral in the "cold war." But U. S. experts are confident he will develop Western leanings after the election.

Oscar G. Israeli economic adviser, who negotiated the American loan, said the funds would play a "strategic" part in Israel's three-year investment program.

This program, he said, envisages an $800,000,000 expenditure for improvement of the state's industrial, agricultural and public facilities.

Israeli officials hope to supplement the U. S. loan with $700,000,000 raised from contributions from Jews throughout the world, local savings, and private investment by foreigners.

Gass said Israel is negotiating with a number of American firms for credits. He said that by inducing others to build branch plants in Palestine, the new state hopes to obtain American technical "know how," which he described as even "more valuable than the credits."

Negro Civic Center Organizes

E. D. Douglas, president of the Negro Civic League of Hope, was principal speaker at a meeting last night at Bethel AME Church with Pastor S. Paschal, presiding.

DOROTHY DIX

Designing Women

Dear Miss Dix: I have been out of high school a year now and have found myself a good job. Recently I met a woman with whom I fell in love, although she has been married three times and is six years my senior. But she tells me that she loves me and wants me to marry her. I have consented, by my parents and friends tell me that I am very foolish as I am only 18 years old, but I feel that I could support her.

The only drawback is that she is very sloppy and will not keep herself neat or her apartment tidy. There are piles of dirty dishes in the sink every time I go to see her. Just what do you advise me to do?

BAFFLED

Answer: I advise you, with all the earnestness that I can possibly command, not to wreck your entire life by making the fatal mistake of marrying this unsuitable woman. In my long life I have seen this tragedy happen so often.

I have seen so many fine lads, with a brilliant future open before them, dragged down into the gutter by designing women, who traded on the boys' lack of knowledge of the world, and their youth and inexperience to make them marry them.

And I have seen these same boys, with the youth and ambition pushed out of them, prematurely old, hating the degraded wives who were fastened like millstones about their necks.

She Doesn't Qualify

Consider the woman who is trying to marry you now, son. She already has been married and divorced three times.

Does that qualify her for being the recipient of a boy's first love? You say she is not even personally neat. Do you think you could stay long in love with a slovenly woman? Could you be satisfied with a home in which the floors were never swept or the laundry never washed? This is the kind of life, this is the kind of wife, this is the kind of home you will have if you let this woman jockey you into marrying her.

And don't forget that if you marry at 18 you will have such a long, long, long time to regret it.

It is always there, but in time we somehow get the courage and the strength to face the inevitable. The memory of the pain that has agonized us grows dimmer. The wound ceases to throb with every breath and somehow, some way, heals over.

But each of us has to work his own cure, and I think you can best do yours if you seek a new environment and deliberately make new interests for yourself, instead of brooding over what can never be.

Dear Miss Dix: I am a young woman of 18. Have been married for six months and am extremely unhappy. We are at present living with my husband's parents and it seems to me that he cares for his mother more than he does for me. I think that the wife should come first in a family, not the mother.

I still love my husband, but it aggravates me when he listens to his mother rather than to me. Because of this we quarrel and I am so miserable I don't think I can stand it much longer.

DISCOURAGED NEWLYWED

Answer: Most teen-age brides saldownd their honeymoon in brine over whether their husbands' love for their mothers is greater than their love for them. It takes an 18-year-old about 10 years to realize that the love a man gives his mother and that which he gives his wife are two different emotions that do not conflict.

Dear Dorothy Dix: Is it a weakness of character to fall completely and desperately in love and not to be able to get over it; to love someone so much that nothing else in the world is as important as being with him; that nothing is fun without him; and life itself isn't much good without him? I am 28 years old.

3-Way Plane Accident Kills Two

Neuburg, Germany, Jan. 20 (UPI)—Three American fighter planes collided in the air over southern Germany today, killing two of the pilots.

The third pilot bailed out and was reported in "fairly good condition."

The U. S. air force said the three F-47 planes—a modernized version of the P-47 Thunderbolt—collided while on a formation flight. It was not immediately known how the accident occurred, but an airforce spokesman said the planes apparently locked wings.

The collision took place 10 miles south of Neuburg, where the planes were based.

Names of the pilots were withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Convict Admits Vengeance Murder

El Paso, Tex., Jan. 20 (UPI)—Authorities in this border city have announced that mild appearing Roy Frank Godbey has confessed the vengeance killing of an Oklahoma City lawyer who once sent him to prison.

The announcement was made jointly late yesterday by acting Chief of Police J. W. Fitzgerald and FBI Special Agent D. K. Brown.

The slightly stooped 52-year-old prisoner signed a statement that he shot and killed Earl Pruet on Jan. 11 in an Oklahoma City sky scraper office, the announcement said.

Godbey's full statement was not released. He told newsmen, however, that he threw the gun used in the shooting out of a window when he left Oklahoma City after the slaying.

Pruet was prosecutor when Godbey was tried and convicted at Waurika, Okla., for a $8 holdup at nearby Jefferson. Sentenced to 35 years, Godbey was released last Nov. 12 with time off for good behavior.

The W.M.S. of the First Baptist church will meet at the church Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. All of the general officers and the officers of each circle are urged to be present for a study of the Guide Book and The Standard of Excellence.

Miss Betty Murphy will be hostess to members of the Y.W.A. of the First Baptist church, Monday night at 7:15 o'clock, in her home on East Third Street. All members are asked to meet at the church at 7 o'clock, for transportation.

Mrs. W. H. Gunter, Hostess to Circle 6, W.M.S.

Circle 6 of the W.M.S. of the First Baptist church met Monday at 2:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. W. H. Gunter, leader. The opening prayer was given by Mrs. Gunter and plans for the year were discussed. The following officers were appointed: Mrs. Gladys Anderson, program chairman; Mrs. Harry Haynes, Mission Study and Literature; Mrs. A. G. Rives, Stewardship; Mrs. H. A. Fisk, Community Missions; Mrs. J. I. Bowden.

The hostess served individual cakes and coffee to six members present.

Mrs. J. E. Cooper Entertains Lilac Garden Club

Mrs. J. E. Cooper was hostess to members of the Lilac Garden Club on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at her home on South Pine Street. Co-hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. S. G. Norton and Miss Mable Etheridge.

The Cooper home was attractive with many lovely arrangements of Jonquils and potted plants.

Mrs. E. Slusher, president, opened the meeting, and led the group in repeating the Lord's Prayer in unison. During the business session, the minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. Mrs. Dewey Camp was elected historian for the club.

Mrs. Slusher, program leader, presented Mrs. Camp who gave a very interesting paper on "Trees Bear Witness to God". Mrs. Pat Casey gave a poem entitled "Plant A Tree". Mrs. Marion Buchanan gave an article "New Shrubs from Bits and Pieces". "What Do We Plant When We Plant a Tree" was given by Mrs. A. B. Patton.

During the social hour, the hostesses assisted by Mrs. Harry Whitworth served a delicious salad plate to 18 members.

Coming and Going

Mrs. Wyatt Davis of this city and Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Anderson of Elmet returned Tuesday night from a visit with relatives and friends in Missouri, Kentucky and Illinois. They were accompanied by Mrs. Olga Anderson of Detroit, Mich. who will visit relatives and friends here.

Mrs. J. L. Rodgers returned Thursday from Ashton where she visited her daughter, Mrs. Hamilton Orion and Mr. Orion.

estimates.

While agreeing that the American defense establishment is, and should be, the best in the world, the committee insisted that it could not be permitted to place too great a strain on the national economy lest it weaken the productivity of the nation it was meant to protect.

Economy in the military services, however, cannot be achieved simply by ordering the tide of extravagance, waste, and duplication to recede, the report said. There must be a will to end waste. The first step is to instill through education and leadership a strong conviction throughout all ranks that waste is harmful to our national welfare.

In addition to better budgeting procedures, the committee urged strengthening of the central authority of the secretary of defense; improved teamwork throughout the National Security Organization; the coordination of scientific research with strategic planning; speed up of plans for civilian mobilization; and an adequate provision for and against "unconventional" means of warfare such as atomic weapons and psychological and other weapons.

Truman

"Communism holds that the world is so deeply divided into opposing classes that war is inevitable."

"Democracy holds that free nations can steel differences justly and maintain lasting peace."

Mr. Truman said he stated his concept of the differences between Communism and Democracy "not to draw issues of belief as such, but because the actions resulting from the communist philosophy are a threat to the efforts of free nations to bring about world recovery and lasting peace."

He reviewed what the United States has done for peace through the United Nations and by direct aid, and indicated that while much progress has been made, a long, difficult and costly struggle still lies ahead.

"Our efforts have brought new hope to all mankind," he said. "We have beaten back despair and defeatism. We have saved a number of countries from losing their liberty. Hundreds of millions of people all over the world now agree with us, that we need not have war—that we can save peace."

"Slowly but surely we are weaving a world fabric of international security and growing prosperity," he declared. "Our allies are the millions who hunger and thirst after righteousness."

Johnson Not Involved in Shooting

A news story concerning the accidental shooting of Cecil Smith of Fulton last Saturday night unless closely read left the impression that Floyd Johnson was implicated. Mr. Johnson was not involved in the shooting and did not argue with Sam McGill. Johnson and Smith had words prior to the shooting at the former's home.

Here and There in Arkansas

Little Rock, Jan. 20 — (AP) — Stanley D. Carpenter has resigned after 32 years with the Arkansas Agricultural Extension Service.

He will farm in Mississippi country near Ossceola.

His successor as Pulaski county farm agent here will be W. F.

"The initiative is ours."

"We are moving on with other nations to build an even stronger structure of international order and justice. We shall have as our partner countries which, no longer solely concerned with the problem of national survival, are now working to improve the standards of living of all their people, we are ready to undertake new projects to strengthen the free world."

Then with another slap at communism and its claims that it raises living standards, Mr. Truman said:

"Democracy alone can supply the vitalizing force to stir the peoples of the world into triumphant action, not only against their human oppressors, but also against those enclined enemies—hunger, misery and despair."

To carry out these policies successfully, he added, the United States must keep itself strong and prosperous.

"Slowly but surely we are weaving a world fabric of international security and growing prosperity," he declared. "Our allies are the millions who hunger and thirst after righteousness."

War Hero to Be Buried at Blytheville

Blytheville, Jan. 19 — (AP) — Edgar Lloyd, a Congressional Medal of Honor winner, will be buried on the courthouse lawn here Sunday.

Burial services for Lloyd, a first lieutenant when he was killed in action, will begin at 2 p.m. The body will arrive here Saturday.

A memorial shaft will be erected later on the courtyard grave.

Lloyd was cited for action near Pompey, France, Sept. 14, 1944.

His company was ordered to exploit an enemy force of about 200 men from a heavily fortified position.

Lloyd led a rifle platoon of the 319th infantry regiment, 80th in-Spivey, now Lee county agent at Marianna. Carpenter has held the job 14 years.

The change will be effective March 10.

Hunt Continues for Missing Plane
With 20 Aboard

Hamilton, Bermuda, Jan. 20 (UPI)—The hunt for a British airliner that vanished Monday with 20 persons aboard was extended to an additional 150,000 square miles southwest of Bermuda today. The British South American Airways plane, "Star Ariel," disappeared on a flight from Bermuda to Jamaica, touching off a bitter debate in the Bermuda house of assembly yesterday.

Members charged that the company's operations damaged Bermuda's tourist business.

Capt. Ross Winters said it "was about time that a company of this sort and its representatives were kicked right out of the place."

"If the British government is prepared to allow faulty planes to operate, then it is up to us to stop that operation," Ross said.

More than 80 planes and 2 ships already have searched 570,000 square miles of the Atlantic with negative results.
